Sergio Lopez Miro, head coach, Virginia Tech, four-time Olympic Coach, two-time Olympian and bronze medal winner. Named the Director of Virginia Tech Swimming & Diving in May 2018. Since Lopez Miro took the helm, the Hokies have seen a raise in the national rankings. The 2020-21 season was a breakout season for both the men's and women's teams. On the men's side, the Hokies recorded an 11th place finish at NCAA Championships; the highest finish in school history, combined with the most points scored in school history (135). The Hokies followed that up with another 11th-place finish in 2022, breaking the record with 143 points from the men.

Since taking over the program in 2018, the Hokies have seen 39 school records, 34 All-American performers and an ACC Champion. His program has also excelled in the classroom. Lopez Miro sent 16 Hokies to the 2020 Olympic Trials. The 2020 Tokyo Olympics saw eight athletes coached under Lopez Miro heading into the games.

Tim Murphy, head coach, Penn State. Murphy graduated from West Chester in 1979 with a degree in health and physical education. From there he started a legendary journey. Tim became an assistant coach under Bob Mattson at the Wilmington Aquatic Club. He moved to a 13-year run as Head Coach at the nationally recognized, Wilton YMCA Wahoos in Connecticut and led the Wahoos to seven National YMCA Championships and was named, YMCA Coach of the Year.

In 1998 Murphy was named the Head Coach of Harvard's Men's Team. With Crimson, Murphy compiled a 122-11 dual meet record and captured six Eastern League titles. He posted seven undefeated dual meet seasons. While at Harvard, Murphy was appointed as the Head Olympic Coach for the Men's Open Water Team at the 2012 Olympic Games. After the Olympics, Murphy became Head Men's and Women's Coach at PSU. Murphy's teams continue to excel, both academically and athletically. Murphy has placed multiple athletes on Olympic, World University, Pan-Pacific and Pan-American teams.

Tom Himes, head coach / CEO at NBAC is in his 50th year of coaching. He began with summer league teams from 1975 – 1980. In 1979, Tom began year-round coaching at the Howard County YMCA, coaching 8-&-Under swimmers. In 1980, Tom took over as the Head Coach until '85.

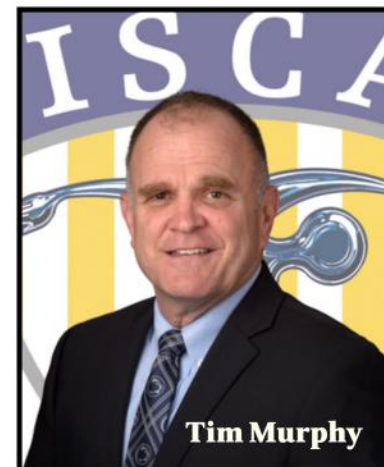

Tom accepted the Head Age Group position at the North Baltimore Aquatic Club in 1985 and continued in that role until 2002.

From 2002 to 2006, Tom left NBAC for the Head Age Group position at Retriever Aquatic Club.

In 2011 Tom again became the Head Age Group Coach at NBAC, a position he still holds in 2023. In addition, Tom became the NBAC Head Coach / CEO in 2016 and remains in that position.

Tom also was in the college coaching ranks while still coaching age-groupers.

Tom has coached numerous swimmers to more than 600 National Top 10/Top 16 rankings, including 105 number one rankings and 39 National Age Group Records as well as multiple swimmers in the USA Swimming ALL Time TOP 100 rankings. Tom's swimmers have set more than 500 Maryland LSC records. Tom coached Michael Phelps and Beth Botsford as age groupers and worked with countless others who have gone onto NCAA success.
